Destination: Home is a public-private partnership ending homelessness in Silicon Valley. Through our collective impact model, we incubate new ideas, advocate for policies, and fund impactful strategies that address the root causes of homelessness and help ensure that our most vulnerable neighbors have a stable home.

OUR UNIQUE PUBLIC-PRIVATE PARTNERSHIP

Solving homelessness requires the commitment of our entire community and our unique public-private partnership brings together all of the different entities working to prevent and reduce homelessness in our community: from local governments and major corporations to affordable housing developers and non-profit service providers.

Since our founding in 2008, we’ve embraced this collective impact model to drive results. Our work coordinating the Housing 1000 campaign led to the adoption of a Housing First approach in Santa Clara County and we played a leading role in developing the 2015 Community Plan to End Homelessness, which has served as the shared roadmap for ending homelessness in our community. These efforts also helped lay the groundwork for the historic $950 million Measure A affordable housing bond, which has provided a critical first step towards securing the resources needed to achieve our goal.

Since 2015, the collective efforts of our many public and private partners, our community has connected more than 17,000 homeless individuals to safe, stable and affordable housing. However, close to 10,000 people still remain without a home - leaving us with much work ahead to end homelessness in our community.

THE SUPPORTIVE HOUSING & INNOVATION FUND

In 2018, Destination: Home launched the Supportive Housing & Innovation Fund to channel private, philanthropic investments towards proven solutions for ending homelessness. The fund was seeded with an initial $50 million gift from Cisco, and in late 2019, Apple contributed another $50 million to the fund.

Over the next ten years, the fund will invest in impactful strategies for addressing our homelessness crisis, with an emphasis on three key areas of focus:

- Supportive Housing Development
